TUESDAY IS THE DAY

Next Tuesday is Democratic Primary voting day in Virginia.

At stake are the nomination by Democrats of their candidates for the important offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney-General. The Democrats so nominated will appear on the ballot at the selection of their party, in the General Election in November.

It has been an extraordinarely quiet pre-primary contest. General apathy is the best deduction as to public interest.

Virginia is a wonderful state. It has its taproot in the very core of America. The challenges in our time are tremendous. Surely, our citizens should be greatly concerned as to our State Officials.

It is not our policy to try to "tell people how to vote" in local or county or state elections. Personally, your editor will support Mr. Harrison. In event that he is the winner, we pray that he may be blessed with healthful vigor to lead us on, not only to broader advancement in the challenging fields of modern civilization, but also that he may lead us in an all-out effort to preserve our sainted traditions of the past so that what was won yesterday, may not be lost tomorrow.

Our suggestion: Go yourself to polls next Tuesday and VOTE!

Hustle And Enterprise

Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges recently called upon all Americans to help build prosperity in this country by exhibiting more enterprise and salesmanship. The Cabinet officer hit a sensitive nerve - and the response to his appeal was great.

Some of those responding to the appeal of the ex-Governor of North Carolina were those hit by his illustrations. He had suggested that anyone who wanted to see how poorly we do the job of selling try to purchase a railroad ticket in a large city or see how he is treated by a hotel clerk.

These were just two of a hundred examples which might have been cited and the Secretary does not think all railroad ticket clerks or hotel clerks are discourteous, but he knows that too many of of them are - and too many other Americans. The Secretary knows that we Americans are not exhibiting the enterprise we did in the earlier days of this country.

His departments investigations shows that many foreign buyers are almost turned away at the door by American business representatives here and abroad. He also knows that many American business men - and normal citizens - have lost the fire of enterprise which made this county what it is today.

It is true, of course, that the fatter a nation gets the less industry and drive the population seems to exhibit. History proves that the hungry, energetic race eventually takes from the fat and self-satisfied races the riches and wealth which have made them self-satisfied.

He does fears that too many Americans are not hustling as business men, not trying every angle to sell their products not giving customers that service which makes for growing business not exhibiting that industry and single purpose which will make business him.

A Long ...

Majority Senate Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen recently he foresaw a long congressional session will pass the August 1st adjournment date heretofore envisioned.

The Senate leader said much of President Kennedy's legislative program is yet to be acted upon and while he didn't say it, it is well known that Mansfield is committed to change Rule 22 in the Senate before this year's session is adjourned.

The Montana Senator promised those who wanted an easier to obtain cloture in Senate, at the beginning of this session, that he would bring the issue to a head later in the year if they allowed the Senate to get off to a non-controversial start. He said recently he intended to fulfill that pledge.

The dispute over rule 22 is an old one. It is a question of how many of the Senate's members should be needed to shut off debate on a question before the Senate. Back in the 1940's there was really no way for the Senate to invoke cloture, if those wishing to talk at length began their stalling of a motion to bring up a bill.

This was called the foolproof filibuster available under the rules of the Senate at that time. In a bitter fight in the Senate, over rule, 22 in the year 1949, just after President Truman had won a surprise victory, that foolproof filibuster were eliminated through the Senate had to fight a filibuster to change the rule.

The rule has been changed repeatedly in the last ten years The drive is now on to win simple majority cloture. If this is brought about in the Senate, free debate and free speech will be a thing of the past for the side which has a one-vote majority will be able to muffle the opposition by a simple one-vote margin.

KNOW the WEATHER

By E. H. Sims

Do barometers prove good weather forcasters?

A barometer alone is not a complete weather forcaster. Most people assume that the movements of a barometer are considerable but the reverse is true. The movement of this arrow of a barometer is very slight.

There are times when the barometer is an unfailing instrument for warning of very bad weather or good weather. When it is around 31, you can be certain that good weather is yours for a day or more.

If it is very low, likewise at 29 or below look for wind and rain. But most of the time the barometer will stay between these marks and the arrow will move only slightly. In these times you must know the trend, have weather reports from other localities and take other factors into consideration, in forecasting the weather.

COMMENTS ON SPORTS

By Pete Fritchie

WASHINGTON, D. C. - Commissioner Ford Frick says he wants to remain at the head of Major League baseball's organization long enough to see each league composed of twelve teams, to work out something to stop the Bonus binge and to see baseball is procted from federal intervention.

The Commissioner's second six-year term does not expire until 1965. He will not offer for reelection to the post of Commissioner at the time, but recent reports that he would soon resign are incorrect.

The Commissioner denied these reports recently (Richard Nixon had been mentioned as a possible successor, among others) by saying he was working on a solution to the bonus binge, which would be announced shortly.

And he said that there was a lot he still wanted to do before he stepped down from the post of Commissioner. One of the three things on Frick's mind in the constant threat of federal intervention into organized baseball's structure because of the reserve clause.

The Commissioner wants to work out something satisfactory to all on this question he wants to see both leagues expanded to twelve teams and wants to put an end to the bonus trend which is costing the rich teams as much as a million dollars a year, or thereabouts at the present pace.

It would seem then, that the Commission would not be retiring before 1964 or 1965. The reports that Nixon, Joe Cronin, or Warren Giles will soon become the Major League Commissioner seem premature.

Chances are Frick will be around for at least three more years. By that time new candidates will have joined the list of eligibles for the top job in organized baseball While some do not think about it much, the fact that big-league baseball's Commissioner has been a respected and well paid man has done much to clean.

Judge K. M. Landis more for the game Commissioner and man - but above reproach. The job year and for that one can manage a reproach.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon . . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most . . . made by FORD . . . America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!
